BACKGROUND

HaBaWaBa is an acronym that stands for Happy Baby Water Ball, words that represent the joy of a child when playing the game with the ball in the water

The mission of HaBaWaBa is unique: to spread the love for waterpolo in the 5 continents, and along with it, the noble values of sport and co-existence.

HaBaWaBa, therefore, represents not merely a game invented by Waterpolo Development, but an entire festival built upon the ideas of inclusiveness, values, fun and joy.

Waterpolo Development wrote a Code of Ethics, also called “The Passport of Champions”, for the ethic formation of the kids.

Through HaBaWaBa, the kids will discover the social values related to sport as they get familiar with the meaning of teamwork, loyalty, self-sacrifice, work ethic and mental toughness; all important to build character.

On the other hand the young athletes get to know the moral values related to fair play in competition such as honesty, fairness, responsibility, compassion and respect to the opponents, the teammates and the referees.

These values are important for a child's development, hence HaBaWaBa seeks to introduce them from a young age.
